MOVE FROM BEAVER TO NEW QUARTERS AT OFFICES MAIN

General Accounting

Production Engineering

Aided by a fleet of moving vans and 22 able-bodied men, the move of the Main Offices from the old site at Beaver Street to the new location at Marshall Street began on Thursday, May 1, at 12 noon. For months, intricate plans had been made for the move in order that it might be accomplished with a minimum of disruption to the work schedule. The time for the move had arrived and these plans were put into action.

offices were Payroll, Tabulating, Costs, and the Factory Accounting Departments. As soon as the week's work was completed on Thursday, the departments were disassembled and by Friday morning set up at Marshall Street ready to begin work on the following week's payroll.

By 5 o'clock, Friday afternoon, the Sales and Production Engineering Departments were established in the new offices. On Saturday morning, they proceeded with their normal routine.

The moving crew and their supervisors worked all Friday night. At midnight, General Accounting and all of its files were in place. At four in the morning, Material Control and Purchasing were at Marshall and only the presence of personnel was needed for them to swing into business.

On Saturday morning, the executive offices were moved out of the Beaver. By noon on Saturday, except for the First to leave the Beaver Street minor details of getting settled, the Sprague Electric M-Day was over.

M-Day had been well organized and it was run off smoothly. Credit goes to John Ortman, executive director of the move, to Andy Girgenti and his men and Emile Jobin and his men who supervised the clearing out at Beaver, to Everett Brown who volunteered his services and supervised the moving in at Marshall, and to Tom Cullen who supervised the whole operation both at Beaver and Marshall.

Great credit is due to Mr. George B. Flood under whose direct supervision the building where the new offices are located was completely remodeled from an old New England mill to a handsome, modern office

M-Day, which began on May 1, was exactly 22 years removed from another Sprague Electric M-Day. On May 1, 1930, Sprague Electric, then the Sprague Specialties Company, moved from Quincy to Beaver Street in North Adams.

MEMORIAL DAY

The Company has announced that all departments will be closed at the regular closing hours on Thursday, May 29, and will reopen at regular starting hours on Monday, June 2.

Eligible employes, with at least six months' seniority, will be paid for Memorial Day in accordance with the provisions in their respective bargaining unit agreements.

Any work performed on Friday, May 30, will be paid for in accordance with the Company's contractual agree-

The Sprague Electric Company extends best wishes for a pleasant and restful holiday to each and every employe.

Lake Trout No Longer Eligible For LOG Contest

Lake Trout will no longer be eligible as an entry in the LOG Fishing Contest. Too few entries have been made in the past to justify having a Lake Trout classification.

We have received a very nice letter from Walter P. Legacy, Jr. who worked on our third shift and recently enlisted in the Air Force. He will be very pleased to hear from anyone. His letter is as follows: Dear Friends:

I arrived at Sampson Air Force Base safely, and I'm getting along very well in the Air Force. I like it very much and I think it does everyone a lot of good. This makes my 16th day here, and the 13th day of training.

We have a jot of training to do each day, and we have to go to school, and have P.T. each day, but it is a lot of

We all are getting more time off and it makes it very nice for us. And we can do different things which we wish to do.

We have to be in bed at 9 p.m. and we have to get up at 4 a.m. so the hours are pretty good for us.

I would appreciate hearing from anyone who would like to write to me.

I liked working for the Sprague Electric Company, the time I worked for it. and after I get out of the service, I hope to return to the Company, and start working for them again. I think it is a very good Company to work for, and they have some very nice people and bosses to work for.

Wesleyan scored an easy 8-1 victory over Williams in the first of two annual games between the Little Three Rivals.

Some timely hitting combined with rather inept fielding in the Williams outfield contributed greatly towards the Wesleyan victory.

Wesleyan scored two runs in the first stanza, mixing a walk, single and double. Two more were pushed across in the fourth after two were out with Roche's double the big factor.

Roche started off the ninth with a single and then came two walks and two hits to account for four runs.

Williams' sole run came in the fifth with Puffer smashing a Triple to score Sullivan who had singled. The sum-

Dodgers and Red Sox Lead in Major League Baseball

At this writing, the kids with the small "k", as Dave Egan would put it, and the bums from Brooklyn are leading their respective leagues.

The Boston Red Sox, despite the loss of Ted Williams to the Marines, are off to their best start since winning the pennant in '46. Paced by Freshmen such as Throneberry, Lepcio, White, and Piersall, they are taking on all comers and giving way to none. They are being chased by Cleveland and the surprising Senators and Browns. The Red Sox have shown greatness under pressure and if they continue in this successful pattern, they will have a much-awaited-for championship team.

Those bums from Brooklyn, the best team on paper, are at present sporting a ½ game lead over the defending champions, the New York Giants. Jackie Robinson is the big cause in the Dodgers' success as be is leading the pack with a lofty .426 batting average.

Brooklyn, who should have won in both 1950 and 1951, looks like the From Adams to Beaver Street, 7:00 best bet from this position, but may be a.m. to 3:45 p.m. shift. Contact given trouble by both the spectacular New York Giants and the Musial-led dark horse, St. Louis.

The Equipment Department, the KVA Power Pact, and the Photo Lab had the highest percentage of employes entering the Hobby Show. These three departments were given free coffee and doughnuts for their prize during one of their rest periods.

Due to the interest shown and the success of the first Arts, Crafts, and Hobby Show, a similar exhibit is planned for the late spring of 1953.

Left: At 4 p.m., many of the guests gathered in a section of the exhibit hall to witness the announcement of the winners and the awarding of the prizes. Center: Electrical appliances were the awards which about 28 contestants received in recognition of their hobbies. Radios, electric blankets, electric clocks, toasters, and coffee makers were among the prizes presented to the lucky winners. Right: (Left to right) Courtney Flanders, General Chairman of the Hobby Show, Frederick H. Whitham, who received a special prize for the most creative and original hobby, Ralph A. Hammann, who received a special prize for the best craftsmanship, Mr. Robert C. Sprague, who presented the awards, Arthur Hewitt, who received the special prize for the most unusual hobby, and Bernard A. Stackpoole, the recipient of the special prize for the most skillfully presented hobby.

Left: Mr. Robert C. Sprague presented the prizes to the winning contestants. Art Hewitt, of Formation, receives a GE radio for having the most unusual hobby exhibited, squab raising. At the left, Joann Deans; at the right, Courtney Flanders. Center: Little Michael Wynn shows some friends his tropical fish which his father, James Wynn, entered in the Hobby Show for him. Michael's fish collection started when he received a pair for company during a recent illness. Right: The exhibitors remained by their hobbies during the show in order to answer any questions. From left to right, Leonore Tarnuzzer, who displayed her knitting, Mrs. Charlie Dean, who exhibited her extensive collection of salt and pepper shakers, and Emma Mutart, a guest. In the background is Angela Catrambone, who entered a chair which she upholstered herself.

Left: The Marshall Street Cafeteria was the scene of the Hobby Show on May 10 and from 12 noon to 4 p.m., streams of guests viewed the exhibits. Center: Eugene P. Baker, Jr., of the Impregnating Department, arranged this attractive exhibit of his Plaster Flock Craft. Eugene has been doing this work for five years. Right: Harley's Model Circus was a feature attraction for youngsters and adults alike. Harley, who works in the Bennington Wire Coating Department, set up his miniature circus the night before the show and then remained with the display all night. He was in attendance Saturday answering the questions of guests.

Left: Mary Gordon and Sue Slater handed each guest a program as he entered the cafeteria. Mr. and Mrs. Walt Kateley and their two sons were among the many guests. Center: Mrs. Donald Cole's tasteful arrangement of her handmade silver jewelry drew many admirers. Bernie Stackpoole examines one of the beautiful bracelets. Right: Bernie Stackpoole was a contestant in the Stamps and Coins Division. He has been collecting coins and metals for over 20 years. Among them is a Prussian Iron Cross which he points out to Jack Washburn.

Left: Art Hewitt's Royal White King Pigeons were the center of much attention. Art, who has about 150 pairs of the birds, raises them for eating. The parent birds are watching over a nest of young. Center: Model building attracted five entries. Model airplanes, which the boys are fastening into place, were particularly popular. Right: The Committees who worked on the Hobby Show did an excellent job. They included (bottom row, left to right) Joann Deans and Sue Slater, Co-Chairmen of Exhibits, Decorations, and Prizes, Doris Cadorette and, Mary Gordon, members of the Program and Reception Committee. Back row, left to right, Norman MacWilliams, a Co-Chairman of the Application and Classification Committee, and Courtney Flanders, General Chairman.

L. Clark and Don Fortini have been doing a lot of talking during the past few days about their favorite baseball team, but it's going to take more than loud talk to win ball games this year. How about that, Yankees?

Larry Weld has forsaken his best friend, his Reo Flying Cloud, for a Plymouth. We won't say what year the Plymouth is, as long as it will take Larry fishing, that is all he will ask.

Bish Goyette was fishing the other day and caught one so big it pulled him into the river, so he said. That would take a lot of fish; Bish goes about 240

Freedom

You speak with authority, I presume, When you say the world's on the edge of doom While I lie here in eternal gloom For trying to make men free.

Why did you waste this precious life? You said I was fighting to end all strife. I fought for this dream and gave my life That men like you might be free.

Now, I see it all clearly from here above — The things that are lacking are friendship and love You kill men ruthlessly forgetting that love Alone can set men free.

You're forgetting that these men too were kissed, By the very same sunshine I have missed, Yet you smile at the enemy's casualty list Because you're making them "free".

We all were brothers under the skin. They notified our "next of kin" "They died to rectify a sin." Has our payment made men free?

Freedom? Tell me, what does it mean? Is it really working or is it a dream? I fought for it, yet, I fought, it would seem In vain to set men free.

In your own selfish way your sins you atone But can't you hear this death's faint moan? Saying kindness and love and these alone Are what will make men free.

I am not free in my clammy tomb, Yet you speak with authority, I presume, When you say you will banish th'eternal gloom And make the whole world free.

GIRLS' BOWLING SEASON CLOSED WITH BANQUET AT PETEY DINK'S

The Industrial Oils Team can well afford to smile. As the winning team in the Women's Bowling League, they just finished collecting the fruits of the season's labors. From left to right: Mae O'Neill, Marion Lowe, Marge Greene, Helen Unis, Nancy Puppolo, and Captain Ann Heath. Among other prizes, the girls were awarded the Sprague Electric LOG award for being the winning team. Congratulations, Industrial Oils, on a wonderful and victorious bowling season.

Jack Washburn presents Susan Bishop, Captain of the Independents, with an appropriate prize. We understand it was a crying towel. The Independents lost to the Industrial Oils in the playoff. Robert C. Sprague, Jr. passed out the cash prizes. Laddie Meranti accepts a prize in behalf of the Beaverettes. Chick Currant, ICW No. 2 representative, awarded the union prizes.

The Girls' Bowling Banquet was held on May 8 at Petey Dink's.

The many happy faces indicate that, as usual, the banquet was a very pleasant affair and a fitting close to a good season,

At the head of the table, holding sway as master of ceremonies, is Written Memorial Day, 1951. 12. C. Danis, Network Amateurs 80.8 popular Paul Fern of the Sales Office.
